

Warren Knapp is a Southern California artist with his flagship gallery on El Paseo in Palm Desert.

Knapp got his start in Southern California thanks to his late father, Seth, who spent the 1920's growing up in the shadow of the Rose Bowl.

After Warren graduated from Pasadena's Art Center college of Design, in 1986, his long time love affair with the arts began.

Today, Warren paints commissioned paintings honoring impressionistic landscapes, cityscapes from his clients' treasured memories, pet portraits, musical instruments and is known for his palm trees and tulip paintings in a variety of sizes and elevated color palettes. Original paintings for big and unique wall spaces are his forte.

Warren offers private art lessons year-round at the gallery and home styling services in Southern California. Private consultations are available by appointment.
